CHURCH MELODY:

BEING A SET OF
ANTHEMS, PSALMS, HYMNS, &c.
ON VARIOUS OCCASIONS,
IN FOUR PARTS.

WITH

A great Variety of other ANTHEMS, PSALMS, HYMNS, &c. composed after a Method entirely new, and never printed before.

By WILLIAM KNAPP,

Author of the first Book of Psalm Tunes and Anthems on various Occasions.

WITH

An Anthem on Psalm cxxvii. by one of the greatest Masters in Europe. Together with four excellent Hymns, and an Anthem for the Nativity.

I will give thee Thanks in the great Congregation, I will praise thee among much People. Psalm xxxv. 18. And all her Streets shall say, Alleluia, Tobit xiii. 18.

To which is added,

An Imploration to the KING of KINGS.

Wrote by King CHARLES I. during his Captivity in *Carisbrook
Castle in the Isle of Wight, Anno Domini 1648.*

Together with

An Anthem for the MARTYRDOM of that blessed PRINCE.

I HAVE followed the same Rule as in my first Book, by drawing the Work all out in Score, and setting the Tenor in the G. Cliff, the Cantus or Treble stands the upper Part. Some of the Anthems and Psalm-Tunes are not entirely my own Composition, viz. the 16th and 139th Anthems; but I was desired by some Friends to compose Counters to them, and publish them with my own Works: Likewise the Anthem taken out of the Communion Service is not my own.

Mr. Christopher Simpson, in the Preface to his Compendium of Music, says, that he hopes it is no Theft to make Use of one's own; I am of that great Man's Opinion, and shall make Use of the same Paragraph for a Conclusion, as I did in my Preface to the second Edition of my first Book, it being entirely my own.

If by what I here offer to the Publick, I find I shall be instrumental in propagating the Knowledge of this excellent Art, it will give me a very sensible Pleasure; and with a secret Complacency of Mind, I shall reflect on what I have done, to advance the Praise and Glory of that GOD who is the Author of Harmony.

I hope, therefore, this second Book will be as candidly received as the first, from,

R E A D E R,

Your most humble Servant,

William Knapp.

To all Lovers not only of Psalmody, but likewise of Hymns, Spiritual Songs, and Anthems, and all Harmonious Ways of celebrating the Divine Praises.

BRETHREN,

DIVINE Music commenced with the Creation, and, in succeeding Ages, has been honoured with Signals of Divine Approbation. The Israelites sang in the Wilderness, and the Water-Spring opened; the Priests and Levites sang Praise in the Temple, and the Glory of the Lord filled the House. Jehosaphat marched his Army singing, and returned triumphant, his Enemies having slain one another. In the Infancy of the Christian Church, Paul and Silas sung at Midnight in Prison, the Foundations shook, the Prison Doors opened, the Prisoners Bands were loosed, and the Jailor was converted. Here, (says an ingenious Remarker) were Songs in the Night without a Furia, and Stones moved by Music without a Fiction.

A worthy Divine, (Dr. Bray) amongst his other pious Endeavours, has expressed no small Zeal and Skill in recommending and promoting this religious Exercise; and assures us, “ That through the Fondness of People for “ Psalm-singing many have recovered their Reading,
 “ which they had almost forgot, and many have learned
 “ to read for the Sake of singing Psalms:” To this we may add the Testimony of a worthy Minister, written to the Rev. Dr. Woodward: “ When I first came to “ my Parish, I found, to my great Grief, the People very “ ignorant and irreigious; the Place of divine Worship
 “ indecently kept; the public Service neither understood
 “ nor attended; the Ministration of the Lord’s Supper
 “ supported only by the Piety of three or four Commu-
 “ nicants, and the divine Ordinance of singing Psalms “ almost

“ almost laid aside. Now in order to redress this general “ Neglect of Religion, I began to teach three or four “ Yout’s the Skill of singing Psalms orderly and ac“ cording to Rules, which greatly tended, through the “ Grace of God, to awaken their Affections towards Re“ ligion, and to give them a Relish for it. The Improve“ ment of these in Psalm-singing being soon observed by “ others, many young Men desired to be admitted to the “ same Instruction; which being granted, and the Num“ ber of them encreasing daily, they readily submitted to “ the Rules of a religious Society, and have ever since “ been careful Observers of them; by whose Means a “ general Reviving of Piety, and a solemn Observance
 “ of the public Ordinances of God, hath been produced “ amongst us: And to the Joy of all pious Souls, our “ Shepherds, Ploughmen, and other Labourers at their “ Work, perfume the Air with the melodious singing of “ a Psalm or Hymn to their Creator and Redeemer.”

What Daughter of Devotion has so noble an Appearance as this Cælestial * Beauty? For while

Prayer, as for Alms, does at the Portal wait, Praise enters, like a Royal Guest, in State.

When is it that our noble Frequenters of the Almighty’s Courts make the greatest Figures, petitioning for Favours, or presenting their Oblations of Respect and Honour? For who so offers Praise honours him, Psalms I. ult. With what Elevation of Spirit does the Psalmist start from the Vale of Tears and Supplications, to the Paradise of Praise! The Daughters of the Temple are all of heavenly Race, Omnes Cælicolæ, but not Omnes supera alta tenentes: The Fæstigia Cæli are the Prerogative of Psalmody. How different is the Style of their Addresses! Be merciful to me for I have sinned, says Penitence! From

* I shall make no Apology for mentioning Psalmody as a Princess and Beauty, as Solomon speaks of Wisdom, Plato of Virtue. Classic Poets of the Graces; nor for not confining her to the single Province of Psalm-singing, but likewise including Hymns, Spiritual Songs, Anthems, and all harmonious Ways of celebrating the divine Praises.

the Ends of the Earth, and out of the Deep have I cried, says Prayer: O be joyful in the Lord, come before his Presence with a Song, &c. This is the Language of Praise.

Accordingly some also of our own Poets;

*For Prayer the Ocean is, where diversly
Men steer their Course, each to a different Coast,
Where oft our Int'rests so discordant be,
That Half beg Winds, by which the rest are lost.*

Sir W. D.

But Praise is Devotion fit for mighty Minds; the differing World's agreeing Sacrifice, &c. not only the common Sacrifice of rational Beings; but so just a Tribute to the Almighty, that inferior Creatures, Elements, and the whole Universe, are summoned to pay it, Psalms 148.

And for its being Devotion fit for mighty Minds, if you doubt a Poet's Word, take a Preacher's. "Singing the Praises of God is the noblest Part of Worship, the most generous Service that we can perform, and carries with it the liveliest Signatures of a divine and God-like Temper of Mind." Thus the practical Discourser, and what can a Poet say more? But still this Preference to other religious Duties must be understood in some certain Respects, not in every Respect. And we acknowledge each of the fair Competitors to be a Princess and Sovereign in her own Province: Yet Psalmody in her sublimest Exercise, (that of celebrating the divine Attributes and Perfections) appears with the Grandeur of an Empress.

In sacred Heraldry she has the Ascendant, as being of the eldest House, and early as the Creation, when the Morning Stars sung together; and of a Lineage that will last when Time shall be extinct.

*For when to the Celestial Temple come,
Petition there shall cease, and Pray'r be dumb:
But Praise, in Accents more sublime and strong,
Shall then commence her everlasting Song,*

CHURCH MELODY.

I S it the justest Praise of every Art,
To second Nature, and improve the Heart?
Then sure amidst the Circle none can vie
With true Devotion's Handmaid, Psalmody.

When meditating all that's good and great,
The Soul sinks down beneath the mighty Weight
Of the divine Perfections, what shall ease
The lab'ring Thought, but Strains divine as these?

But various Passions act the human Mind,
To Joy, to Grief, to Pray'r, to Praise inclin'd:
When our rude untaught Tongues would these express,
What but a God-like Art can find the Dress?

How great your Merit who employ your Pains
To form the Choir, to regulate its Strains!
And shewing Musick why herself was given,
Recall the Wand'rer to her Native Heaven!

LONG-FLEET TUNE. Psalm 20, new Version. A 4 Voice.
For a public Fast in Time of War.

The musical score is written for four voices, indicated by a large bracket on the left. The key signature has one flat (B-flat) and the time signature is 3/2. The lyrics are: 'The Lord to thy re—quest at—tend, and hear thee'. The notation includes various musical symbols such as treble and bass clefs, notes, rests, and bar lines. There are some markings that look like 'x' or 'o' on the staves, possibly indicating specific notes or ornaments.

 A stable was thy palace once,
 Dwell in these hearts of ours:
 Teach us to praise the Father's love,
 Till blest, transported, fir'd above,
 We sing with nobler powers.

Which of the bright celestial throng,
 With love so warm and heart so strong,
 Dares languish on a cross ?
 Who can leave liberty for chains,
 Abandon extasy for pains,
 What angel-fortitude sustains,
 Th' inestimable loss.
 Who can leave, &c.

He said : and death-like silence reign'd ;
 Deep was their awe ; the radiant band,
 The mighty task declin'd.
 At length heav'n's Prince the silence broke,
 And ardent, thus, the Sire bespoke,
 None but thy Son can ward the stroke ;
 Then let the task be mine.
 At length, &c.

Mine be the feeble infant-state ;
 Mine, in return for love, be hate ;
 A manger be my throne.
 Pain, when thy glory calls, is bliss ;
 When man's in danger, torture's peace,
 Shame, praise ; a paradise th' abyss :
 Then yield thy darling Son.
 Pain, when thy glory, &c.

Th' Almighty radiance smil'd assent,
 Loud was the shout that Æther rent,
 All heav'n was in amaze.
 Go, my lov'd image, said the Sire,
 Be born, in anguish to expire ;
 Earth, triumph ; angels, strike the lyre
 To everlasting praise.
 Go, my lov'd image, &c.

Why do no rapid thunders roll?
 Why do no tempests rock the Pole?
 O miracle of Grace!
 Or why no angel on the wing,
 Warm for the honours of their King,
 T'extirpate all the race.

Did he, that infant bath'd in tears?
 Call into form the rolling spheres?
 Did seraphs wait his nod?
 Helpless he calls, but man delays;
 The moral chaos disobeys
 This offspring of a God.

Say, radiant seraphs, thron'd in light,
 Did love e'er tow'r so high a flight?
 Or glory sink so low?
 This wonder angels scarce declare,
 Angels the rapture scarce can bear,
 Or equal praise bestow.
 This wonder, &c.

Redemption! 'tis a boundless theme!
 'Thou boundless mind, our hearts inflame
 With ardor from above:
 Words are but faint, let joy express;
 Vain is mere joy, let actions bless
 This prodigy of love.

A D V E R T I S E M E N T.

The three last Carols were sent me, according as they bear date, by a gentleman unknown, desiring me to set them to music. With the third I received the following letter.

W. K.

S I R,

I Take the liberty, though unknown, of troubling you with another Carol, which I beg you will do me the honour of setting to music. If this performance, as I fear it will, should prove less animated than the occasion requires, your candor must ascribe it, in some measure, to an illness, under which I have long laboured, and which has greatly depressed my spirits, and likewise to the frequency of my attempts upon the same subject; this before you being the fifth composition of the kind. You will see here too many symptoms of a sickly muse: and yet I expect, that music, which works wonders, and is known to be sovereign in some diseases, will at least give her a more sprightly air, if not totally relieve her. It will not be the first instance in which poetry has been supported, enlivened, and recommended by the help of her sister-art. My own obligations of this sort to you I take this opportunity of very sincerely and thankfully acknowledging.

Some time or other I may possibly make so free as to send you a few songs, in behalf of which I shall intreat the same assistance from that art, in which you are so acknowledged a master: amusements of that kind, when decently entertaining, being, in my apprehension, no way dishonourable to the cloth I wear. Please to return the new carol as soon as possible, and you will lay a double obligation on fuff'ring fings.

Your obedient humble servant, &c.

And teach my tongue, that ever did confine
Its faculties in truth's seraphic line,
To track the treason of thy foes and mine.

Nature and law, by thy divine decree,
The only root of righteous royalty,
With this dim diadem invested me :

With it the sacred sceptre, purple robe,
The holy unction, and the royal globe ;
Yet I am levell'd with the life of Job.

The fiercest furies that do daily tread
Upon my grief, my gray, discrowned head,
Are those that owe my bounty for their bread.

They raise a war, and christen it The Cause,
Whilst sacrilegious hands have best applause ;
Plunder and murder are the nation's laws.

Tyranny bears the title of taxation ;
Revenge and robbery are reformation ;
Oppression gains the name of sequestration.

My loyal subjects, who in this bad season
Attend me, by the law of God and reason,
They dare impeach, and punish for high treason,

Next at the clergy do these furies frown :
Pious episcopacy must go down ;
They will destroy the crozier and the crown.

Churchmen are chain'd, and schismatics are freed ;
Mechanics preach, and holy fathers bleed ;
The crown is crucified with the creed.

The church of England doth all faction foster,
 The pulpit is usurp'd by each impostor,
 Extempore excludes the Pater Noster.

The Presbyter and Independant feed
 Springs with broad blades to make religion bleed;
 Herod and Pontius Pilate are agreed.

The corner stone's misplac'd by every paviour,
 With such a bloody method and behaviour,
 Their ancestors did crucify our Saviour.

My royal consort, from whose fruitful womb
 So many princes legally have come,
 Is forc't in pilgrimage to seek a tomb.

Great Britain's heir is forced into France,
 Whilst on his father's head his foes advance:
 Poor child! he weeps out his inheritance.

With my own power my majesty they wound,
 In the king's name the king himself's uncrown'd:
 So doth the dust destroy the diamond.

With propositions daily they inchant
 My people's ears, such as do reason daunt,
 And the Almighty will not let me grant.

They promise to erect my royal stem,
 To make me great, to advance my diadem,
 If I will but fall down and worship them.

But for refusing, they devour my thrones,
 Dispossess my children, and destroy my bones:
 I fear they'll force me to make bread of stones.

My life they prize at such a slender rate,
That in my absence they draw bills of hate,
To prove the king a traitor to the state.

Felons obtain more privilege than I,
They are allow'd to answer e'er they die,
'Tis death for me to ask the reason why.

But, sacred Saviour, with thy words I woo
Thee to forgive, and not be bitter to,
Such, as thou knowest, know not what they do.

For, since they from the Lord are so disjointed
As to condemn those edicts he appointed,
How can they prize the power of his anointed?

Augment my patience, nullify my hate,
Preserve my issue, and inspire my mate;
Yet, tho' I perish, bless this church and state.
